The play of Emeralds, by the Newell Madison Square company made quite a hit last evening. While the cast was not as strong as in some of the companies which have presented the play, yet the parts were very well sustained. Those desiring especial mention were, Esterbrook, Emeralds, and Mr. and Mrs. Rogers. Mrs. Rogers was particularly well represented, and her shrewish character was very realistically brought out. East Lynne will be produced to-night by the same company, and the people will be treated to some very fine playing.

Will Peters was brought up in the municipal court this morning on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. An umbrella holder was held up near the St. Dennis hotel, last evening, and about six dollars taken from him. He complained to Marshal Hogan and while the marshal was inquiring into the matter, Peters became rather abusive, and so was given a lodging in the jail. He could not swear to it however, and the case was continued until next Saturday, in order that further information could be secured.

Meers, Galbraith Bros. sold to-day to Mr. S. Beckwith, of the Grand Hotel, the little span of Shelburne pines that have been so much admired on the streets for the past few months. The price paid was $700, and is undoubtedly the largest price ever paid for a pair of pines in Rock county. The little roadsters will be shipped to Fargo, Dakota, to a friend of Mr. Beckwith's. They are little beauties and while the purchase price may seem high yet the security of well matched ponies makes the supply very limited. One member of the firm who was absent when the sale was made, was heard to say that he would be glad to give Mr. Beckwith a bonus to cancel the trade.

Miss Marie Colvin has received from Milwaukee a strikingly beautiful and life-like portrait of her mother, executed after the air brush system by Miss Sybil Kershaw, of that city. The large portrait was made from a late cabinet photograph, and in point of delicate shading, in artistic finish, in the ease and grace of position, and in the life-like appearance of the subject, it is one of the best portraits ever seen in this city. Mr. Paul Colvin got it handsomely and appropriately framed in gold, and in that condition the portrait was presented to Mr. Colvin. It is a priceless gift to him, and will be admired by the many friends of the deceased.

The great electric clock seems to be the leading topic of conversation throughout the city, and is attracting its share of public patronage. Yesterday afternoon and last night descriptive lectures were given every fifteen minutes. You can go any time in the afternoon and evening and see the mechanical workings of the clock. An effort is being made by a number of leading citizens to have all the school children attend the exhibition. The managers will probably reduce the price of admission so that all the pupils can see the great clock. The astronomical part of the clock will be a great benefit to the school children. Go to-night and see this wonderful clock.

The literary and musical exercises at the school for the blind attracted a large audience last night, among which were many of the more prominent of our citizens. The exercises took place in the assembly room, under the charge of Mrs. Little superintendent of the school. The programme consisted of instrumental music, vocal solos and choruses, and recitations. The work of the orchestra, under the leadership of Mrs. M. D. Jones was especially good. Many of the essays were original and were well delivered. It proved a very pleasant evening for all who attended, and the exercises showed ability and careful work on the part of the superintendent and teachers; and industry, patient study and keenness of mind on the part of the scholars. The closing exercises of the school took place this afternoon.

Beloit Free Press: "A cyclone did considerable damage in the northwest corner of the town of Beloit early Tuesday morning. Coming from the west the whirlwind first struck the Gravelade place, wrecked a windmill, and moved a large barn from its base; then tore down a large barn on G. Anderson's place, burying seven head of cattle and a hog. Six of the cattle were rescued alive. The Saberson brothers' farm next suffered to the extent of a wrecked barn, and the orchard and shade trees suffered badly. At McGavock's farm a windmill was blown down. The storm seemed to lift from the ground here, and its course is marked by a narrow path about three miles long, and in places great furrows were plowed in the ground. The storm came up at 4:30 o'clock and was over in a moment, and there was but little rain at the time. It is reported that tobacco sheds on the farms of C. Knudson and Mr. Creighton, of Newark, were also blown down."
